FARMHOUSE FABULOUS

BY: Alta Cabinet Design Inc., Raleigh
LOCATION: Raleigh PROJECT COST: $30,000

Though they love their farmhouse-style home, these homeowners were looking to create a more contemporary design throughout the interior, while at the same time incorporating casual elements. Ruth Ann Taylor with Alta Cabinet Design worked with the architectural design team from Center Studio Architecture and the construction consulting team from Maplewood Building Company, both in Durham, to create a plan to meet all the owners' needs.

First, a recessed-panel maple door was chosen for the custom cabinetry and finished in a medium-toned stain, resulting in a sleek but warm look. Stainless steel accents throughout the space—such as the appliances, hardware, lighting and island support brackets—help balance the contemporary with the casual. Quartz countertops in a monochromatic finish soften the space, while a bright mosaic tile backsplash adds color and interest.

To overcome the challenge of the wall of windows on the main cabinet run, base cabinetry was used to store items typically stored in wall cabinets—for example, a pull-out spice rack was installed by the range while pegboard inserts in drawers by the dishwasher allow for easy loading/unloading of dishes. Additional storage was provided by installing a tall pantry next to the refrigerator and increasing the depth of the wall cabinets to 15 inches. 🏠
